LEONIART PROJECT II
International Exhibition of Visionary MailArt

CORRADO LEONI

Corrado Leoni, LeoniArt, is an Italian visionary artist and the founder of the LeoniArt Project. At a young age, Leoni's calling for art brought him into the international stage, winning the first world award "Save Venice," organized by Proracanon. As a visionary artist, Leoni performed various solo and collective exhibitions in Italy and abroad. In the last three years, his artworks have been exhibited in Porto (Portugal), Basel (Switzerland) and New York (U.S.A.). Leoni took part in The Contemporary Art Fair in Marbella, Spain, The Visionary Art Trip, in Belgrade, Serbia, and The International Poetry Festival in Genoa (solo exhibition "The Wheel of Rebirth").

In 2005 his painting, "The Wonderland Island," was chosen to represent Italy at the "Pyramide Europe" exhibition in Barcelona, Spain. Leoni painted the entire ceiling of the Jupiter Theatre for the ship, Costa Serena, where his painting, "The Jupiter Sky," was reproduced in large scale (2152 sq. ft) as permanent artwork. Leoni's painting "Scenes from Alexandria of Egypt" was used for the perimeter of the library in the ship, "Carnival Splendor".
